

teresa j cuevas

Teresa J Cuevas (Madrid, 1988) develops her work from a solid architectural background and a profound artistic sensitivity. Her experience in South Korea, alongside artist Jinnie Seo and at the studio One o One Architects, decisively shaped her career: there she worked on projects ranging from residential housing to monumental installations, opera stages, and luxury window displays. That period left an Asian imprint on her work, still visible today in the delicacy, rigor, and spatial awareness of her pieces.

In 2015, after years of filling notebooks with drawings and sketches, she began her professional career as an artist in Madrid. Her perseverance and experimentation took her from one studio to another, until in 2021 she created her own studio-space, conceived as both a place for creation and exhibition, where her work breathes in dialogue with architecture.

Her work unfolds around two main universes. The first, from inside out, where nature—light and shadow, winds and sands—becomes the protagonist of her canvases, with light as the central element. The second, from inside in, where she delves into the intimate and universal: femininity, motherhood, emotional and spiritual growth.

In the first universe, series such as Naturaleza y luz stand out, where matter constructs serene and ever-changing landscapes. In the second, collections like La espera, Avance, or Encuentros, which invite contemplation and self-discovery.

A single pursuit runs through all her work: to make the invisible visible, to find in light—both external and internal—a horizon of calm, truth, and transformation.

Avance

This collection invites us to explore different milestones along our journey. It encourages us to look within our own nature and discover those moments that define us, marking a clear before and after. Its vibrant lines, balanced and minimalist, reveal a strong Asian influence in the materials and echoes of artists Eusebio Sempere and Fernando Zóbel.

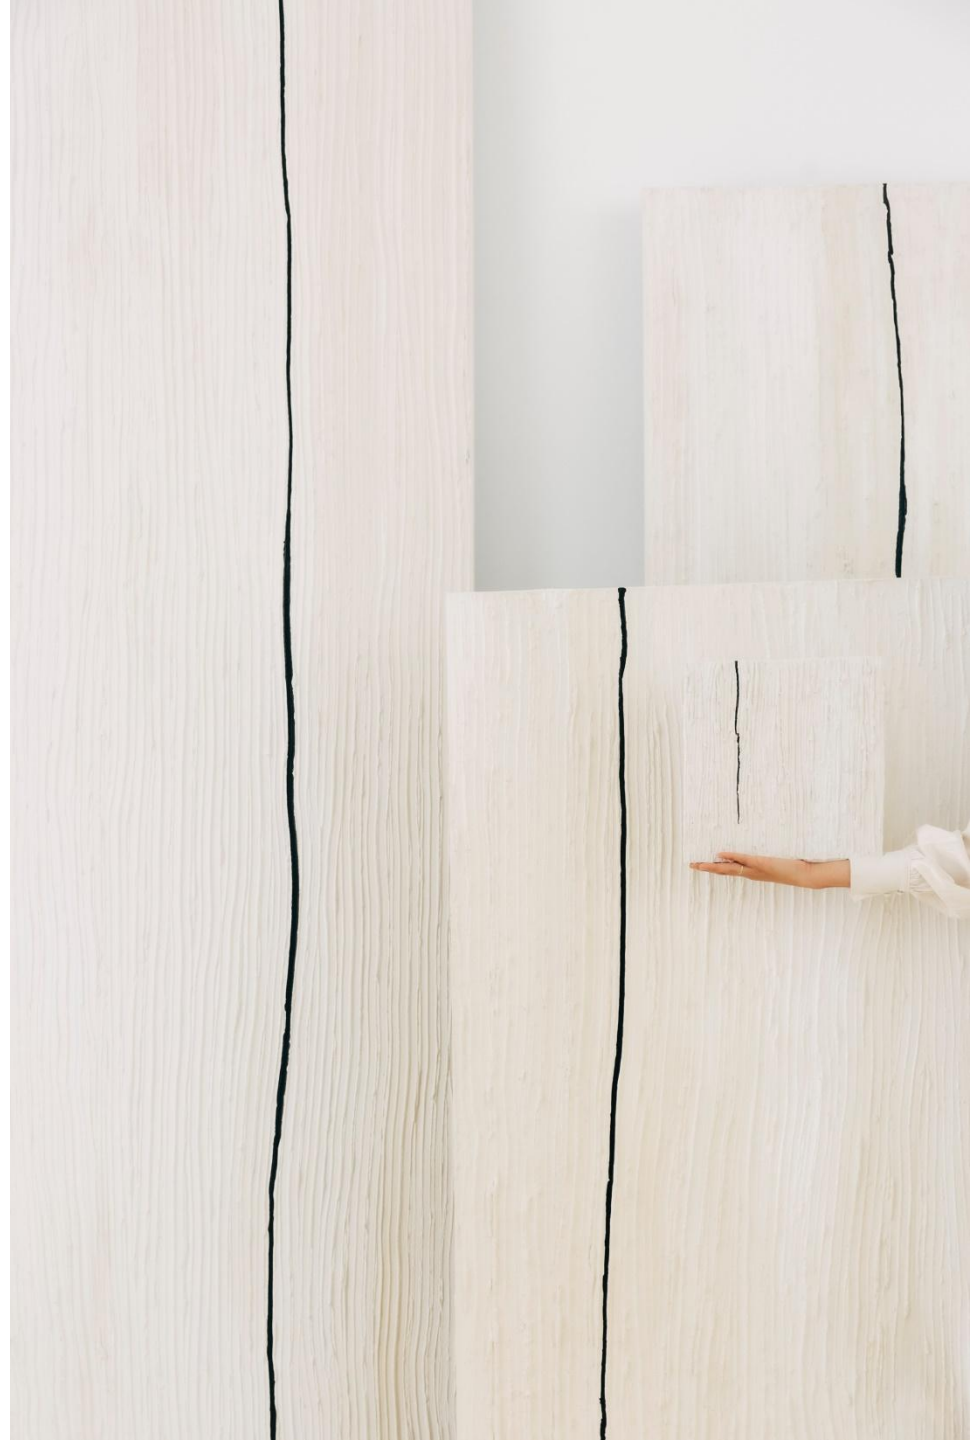

Evolving since its inception in 2011 (South Korea), this series reflects biographical references to Teresa's life in each piece. Yet the true protagonist is the viewer and their own reflection—the inner search we all undertake, embarking first on an emotional journey, followed by a spiritual one.

The collection reveals two distinct creative processes: one involving textures that are caressed or scratched, symbolizing the duality of life; the other featuring light, pure white paper, torn during a meditative process. At times, these works are tinted with the nuances of different states of consciousness.

In these two interconnected approaches, the artist hopes we can all uncover a deeply significant phase of our lives, surrounded by clarity. She invites us to find the pillars of our personal histories, vital marks that propel us forward. This series abstracts the progression of life to its simplest form, allowing only intuition and reflection to awaken within us a sense of recognition, transforming those moments into something beautiful.

The artist explains:

"We are what we live—the sum of our circumstances and the moments that shape us. But it is up to us to transcend them and create a path of healing with some of them. I treasure these moments as part of the process of self-discovery, progress, and the pursuit of beauty in my own life."

Horizonte y tierra

We feel joyful when we have horizon and land.

*There is no legend that says that the landscape is made by the observer
just as the observer is made by the landscape and yet that is the mark we all leave between the horizon and the land.*

*Behind us, a vital impulse appears that brings us closer, over time,
to the purpose that gives meaning to the path.
Disparate lives with a common trait:*

Progress.

*The landscape and its color enter an instant in time
that will become a landmark and a memory.*

All our experience is diluted in a river of ink that knowingly leaves a trace of a vital story.

La espera

It all started with a wait. Long, beautiful and hard at the same time. Full of light and fear. Containment, resignation, euphoria and excitement.

Time dilates and contracts in the form of ink and this runs through rivers or is accommodated in the geometry of the home. Time moves forward and there are times when it seems to stop.

There are free and warm movements with the coffee with which the work comes to life, it separates itself from the artist who makes it happen, but does not control the end, like many things in life.

This series tries to capture the strength and delicacy of waiting for a light result.

Naturaleza y luz

This series is inspired by the simplest details that, especially in nature, awaken all our senses and wonder.

They will speak of the light in the sand, of when we go into the sea, the waves at the shore, strata of light in cliffs all around us and, of course, the familiar everyday life which fills everything with meaning.

Estratos de luz

"Estratos de luz" is a series that I started in September 2020 and I still have a lot of work, research and movement to do around it.

It emerged from my fascination for the rock formations and cliffs of the Portuguese coast, of how nature surpasses itself with every step you take.

Tide up, tide down.

It surprises you with a break, a change in minerals. Another color, another texture or another plane.

Nature never disappoints. I just focus on educating the attention, to bring it to the wonder and treat it with care (following the steps of Pablo d'Ors).

The large format is not casual...I would like to go in there, to feel the cliff nearby, its light or its surprise.

Marea baja

In this series I swap my native Mediterranean for the Atlantic, my adopted ocean. Water gives way to a new protagonist: sand. The sand surrounds me in a warmer and closer way. It represents what wind or water end up settling at the foot of these cliffs, to create a carpet that embellishes our arrival at the sea, facilitates our path, sinks us and makes us aware of each step. It seems to me an act of humility and finitude...

The title of this series invites us to stroll, reflect and observe closely. We bring the eye closer to the day to day in which the tide unveils the splendor of the hidden cliffs in a simple and serene way. It is amazing to me how the beauty of nature exists even if you do not observe it, and how it lifts your soul when you look closely at it.

Encuentros

*In this series I place myself in miniature, walking through the breaks that I imagine in cliffs with hidden beauty.
There I place myself, there I find myself.
Little again, in awe of its mystery.*

Encuentros

Límites

The interaction of materials in nature makes us children of the same earth.

I like to observe and take care of these limits.

They cause the difference between one element and another and, at the same time, connect us.

Copper and steel speak to us of pure materials with a diffuse limit that brings lightness, connection and serenity to the artwork.

Studio Teresa J Cuevas

At present, Teresa J Cuevas' studio breathes an atmosphere of experimentation, in which we can find results of studies of very diverse materials, closely related to construction and architecture: steel, plaster, cement, stone and even paper in a sculptural way.

Together with the introduction to the digital world, sculpture is one of the projects that now occupies his mind.
